Plymouth County offers some of the most rural routes with serene scenery and interesting places to stop and shop, listen, learn and dine. Meander south of Boston throughout New England’s oldest, settled region.

PLIMOTH PLANTATION
Plimoth Plantation, the bi-cultural living history museum offers a re-created 17th century English Village that includes Colonial interpreters who bring the 17th Century to life, a Native Wampanoag Homesite, Crafts Center and numerous Museum Shops. The reproduction Mayflower II (expected to return to Plymouth summer 2020) is located at State Pier just a stone’s throw from Plymouth Rock, that historic piece of granite thought to be the steppingstone for these courageous settlers to the New World. plimoth.org

MONUMENTS
Don’t miss the National Monument to the Forefathers on Allerton Hill and the majestic statue of the Wampanoag Sachem Massasoit on Cole’s Hill overlooking Plymouth Harbor. Also located there is the National Day of Mourning Plaque erected to honor Native ancestors and Native struggles that continue today. At Pilgrim Memorial State Park see the Governor William Bradford monument whose journal gave Plymouth its history, otherwise lost. Pilgrim women are represented with Pilgrim Mother and Pilgrim Maiden statues in Brewster Gardens as are all immigrants with the moving Plymouth Immigrant Memorial.

SITES AND WALKING TOURS
Stop in at the recreated, 1636 Plimoth Grist Mill to learn the history of New England’s first industry, the corn mill. plimoth.org
Park for free at Jenney Pond and walk along Town Brook through Brewster Gardens to the waterfront where you’ll find peaceful and scenic Plymouth Rock. For an informative faith-based walking tour of Plymouth contact The Jenney Museum. thejenney.org

SeePlymouth.com
NEW ENGLAND FARE
Consider indulging in tasty New England fare, across Summer Street at the John Carver Inn & Spa’s “Hearth 'n Kettle” restaurant.

Between downtown and the waterfront walk Leyden Street, Plymouth’s “first street”. At the top of the hill you will encounter the Mayflower Meetinghouse Society’s Mayflower Meetinghouse mayflowermeetinghouse.org.

WATER EXCURSIONS
Afternoon water options are Captain John Whale Watching & Fishing Tours captjohn.com, or Pirate, Ice Cream or Lobster cruises with Plymouth Cruises plymouthtours.com, Pilgrim Belle Paddlewheeler pilgrimbelle.com Harbor Cruise or board the Plymouth to Provincetown Ferry provincetownferry.com for a day-long excursion to Massachusetts’ easternmost and provocatively colorful town.

MUSEUMS
At Pilgrim Hall Museum pilgrimhall.org you will find original artifacts brought over aboard the Mayflower as well as exhibits designed to enlighten you about this most American of stories. Here, too, you can touch a piece of Plymouth Rock!

SHOPTING
Stop in at Village Landing Marketplace villagelandingmarketplace.com on Water Street for a meal at SALT Raw Bar saltrawbarplymouth.com. Then top off your meal with Fedele’s Chocolates, Peaceful Meadows ice cream or Cupcake Charlie’s cupcakecharlies.com.

CRANBERRIES
The A.D. Makepeace Company in Wareham admakepeace.com offers seasonal Pick Your Own Cranberry Harvest Tours, Cranberry Harvest Public Tours, Bog to Table Dinners and Make it better with Cranberries Cooking Demonstrations. makepeacefarms.com

GHOST TOURS
For a spine-tingling experience, daily evening options are at Plymouth Night Paranormal Tours plymouthghosttours.com or Dead of Night Ghost Tours deadofnightghosttours.com Wind your way through the lanes and byways once trod by the Native People and Pilgrims and Burial Hill, New England oldest burial ground.

BEYOND THE COUNTY
Quincy is home to two U.S. Presidents, John Adams and his son John Quincy Adams, discoverquincy.com. The National Park Service provides tickets and transportation from their Visitor Center. Located in United First Parish Church are the final resting places of both Presidents and their wives.

Plymouth County makes a great hub to visit Boston, Cape Cod, New Bedford’s Whaling Museum, Fall River’s Battleship Cove, and the Newport Mansions in Rhode Island.

SeePlymouth.com